UNVEIL HONOR ROLL AT MOKENA METHODIST CHURCH

A full house greeted the special service in the Mokena Methodist Church last Sunday evening, commemorating the re-opening of the newly re-decorated house of worship and the unveiling of a church honor roll.

Mrs. John Balaz did the unveiling honors and Mrs. Gerald Dunn read the list of names of the young people from this church who are in the service of their country. The list is as follows:

Mike D. Roberts, Oliver P. Lauffer, O. Elsworth McGovney, Gerald W. Bennett, Judith V. Warnacutt, Friedrich B. Lauffer, Russell Bennett, Harold N. Balaz, Berle H. Needham, Robert E. Benson, Gordon H. Clevenger, Charles N. Hostert, Dean Reuckert, George D. Lauffer, Richard Gordon Benson and Kenneth Robert Benson.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. Frank Q. Brown of the Chicago Technical College.

His subject was, "The Economic Value of the Bible," in which he outlined how modern improvement, inventions and conveniences follow the Bible in foreign lands.

Dr. Brown is a good speaker and the general consensus of opinion was, that the audience could listen to him by the hour and not tire. His talks are so interesting and his presentation so graphic, that one can almost visualize the places he speaks of.

One item which held the interest of all, especially the ladies, was a pair of tiny shoes given to him by a Chinese woman who was a victim of the bound feet custom. The shoes were hardly larger than those found on a good sized doll.

Mr. Brown Campbell of Tinley Park, accompanied by his wife, sang very beautifully, "The Holy City" and the church choir rendered a fitting anthem, "How Holy Is This Place."

WHITE STORE CAN SUPPLY FISHERMEN WITH EQUIPMENT

In these days of war shortage fishermen will find it pretty difficult to purchase needed supplies for their fishing trips this summer but they don't have to look far to get all the supplies they need, for J. Cohen of The White Store in Joliet foresaw all this and when the opportunity came to buy up a huge lot of samples from a big eastern manufacturer he was right on the job and procured thousands of items. Now you can buy anything in the fishing tackle line from a fish hook to a high price fishing rod. And speaking of fishing rods The White Store has an assortment for any type of fishing, whether it be in a creek, river, lake or even the ocean.

You fishermen remember when you are preparing to go on that fishing trip in the next few months you can buy additional equipment at The White Store. Better still stop in now before the rush begins and buy whatever you need to complete your fishing equipment.

Native Galilean Will Present Unique Program at Mokena

A native Galilean shepherd is coming to Mokena and Orland Park to speak and show motion pictures of the Holy Land in color.

It is a far cry from the ancient hills of Galilee and the pastoral life of the people there, to the dynamic days of the modern present in civilized America, but those two extremes are covered in the span of life of Stephen A. Haboush, a shepherd from Galilee, and who has brought to America the story of Galilee and Palestine, told as only one who was born there can tell it.

Mr. Haboush is a native Galilean. He was born on the hills about the Sea of Galilee and in his youth tended his father's flock of sheep, just as every Galilean boy has done since the days when the Master walked among men. He came to the United States several years ago and worked his way through an American University. Recently he returned to the land of his birth.

Stephen A. Haboush

and there personally took in full color motion pictures of the scenes and people of Galilee and Palestine. He returned to America with his unusual films and thrilling story. He has written for magazines and newspapers and spoken before great audiences in many of the famous, universities, colleges, and churches and schools in Canada and the United States.

There is an inspiration in the life and teaching of Stephen A. Haboush for everyone. His messages and travelogues bring to the material present the story of life in Galilee and Palestine as it was and as it is the story of the Scriptures interpreted by one to whom the scenes of the Story of the four Gospels are his native land. He is the author of "My Shepherd Life in Galilee" and in the book review of the Boston Transcript appeared this statement, "He enters into the feeling of the most famous bit of the world's devotional literature with insight and charm."

Mr. Haboush's Travelogue that he is bringing to Orland Park and Mokena in the near future is a distinct contribution to North American letters and to modern thought. It breathes the very life and mysticism of the ancient East. Part of it is delivered in native costume the same costume worn by native Galileans in the days of the Bible story.

Part of his dramatic story is delivered to the accompaniment of thrilling scenes and motion pictures in full color. Many of the scenes that he will show in this program appeared in the National Geographic Magazine and leading religious periodicals. He is to appear in person with Madame Haboush and two young men to present their Bible Land Musical Travelogue "On Sacred Land" at Orland Park High school gym, Sunday April 23 at 8 p. m. under the auspices of the Lutheran Ladies Aid Society, and at the Mokena School Gym on Friday, April 28 at 8 p. m. under the auspices of the Women's Guild of St. John's church.

It is a program that will be a delight and an inspiration to all who will be fortunate enough to hear him. Tickets are sold by the above organizations at a reduced rate. At the door the night of the program the admission is higher.

Mundy, minister of music will sing, "Nobody Knows de Trouble I've Seen", "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot", "Steal Away", "Walk Together Children", "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord?", "Deep River" and other beautiful traditional numbers.

They will also include on the program a very unusual number by Director Mundy, "Joshua Fit de Battle of Jericho" and some lovely anthems, "Morn of Beauty" by the contemporary, Jen Sibelius; "I Heard the Voice of Jesus say" by Rathburn; and that beautiful composition by the noted Negro composer, R. Nathaniel Dett, "Listen to the Lambs".

Thelma Waide Brown, soprano, who won the acclaim of critics when she sang the role of Amneris in the Opera "Aida" with the Negro opera group at Civic Opera House recently will be featured on the program. Mrs. Brown, who possesses a very unusual voice will be remembered for her fine work in a number of operatic roles in recent years as well as for her excellent interpretation of spirituals.

ALCOHOL AND WPB

A mysterious hand has reached inside the War Production board to hold up a new method of alcohol production. The process, developed in Germany, is the distillation of alcohol from sawdust and wood waste.

All over the U. S. A. there is a great surplus of sawdust and wood scraps from saw mills. In some areas, its disposal is a problem. But in Germany, some 30 plants are in operation turning sawdust not only into alcohol, but yeast and cattle feed.

This same process has been tested at a U. S. forest service pilot plant at Marquette, Wis., and recently plans were all set to open a commercial plant at Willamette, Ore. The Vulcan Copper and Supply company was scheduled to do the job, and J. Alfred Hall, borrowed from the forest service by WPB's office of production research and development, actually had gone out to Oregon to inspect the proposed Willamette site.

But now something has happened. The alcohol division of WPB is reported to be quietly throwing monkey wrenches into the works.

For two long years, WPB's alcohol division had blocked the sawdust alcohol method for the obvious reason that the big alcohol companies are entrenched with the Cuban molasses method. Their plants are near the Atlantic seaboard, where molasses is readily accessible. They don't want competition from the lumber regions of the South and Northwest. But finally, because of the desperate alcohol shortage, they were overruled and the Willamette plant was authorized.

However, queer things happened. When the Willamette application was sent by registered mail to WPB, it was "lost." WPB refused to act without the "original" application, so valuable weeks were wasted arguing.

Then, an engineer named Levy, who had had experience with the sawdust method in Germany, was brought here from England. This time, the Willamette application papers were ready. But another hitch developed. WPB suddenly found some of Levy's credentials unsatisfactory, demanded an FBI investigation. The FBI cleared him, but still the WPB's alcohol division is holding things up.

AIR WAR OVER GERMANY

Strange as it may seem, the present problem of the U. S. and British air forces over Europe is not so much to locate the targets but to locate German fighter planes. Nazi fighters have been so reduced in numbers that they are being held back, apparently for the second front. Allied bombers occasionally make a complete mission to the Continent without meeting any opposition in the air.

This is good news, but it prevents heavy attrition of the Luftwaffe unless the German planes are sought out on the ground.

As American fliers put it: "We've done a birth-control job on the Luftwaffe." In other words, they have struck manufacturing plants so successfully that fighter production is way down. This applies both to twin-engine and single-engine fighters. Plants making both types have been struck systematic and devastating blows.

Air forces officials have figures on the exact amount of that "birth control," but the figures are highly confidential. British as well as American officials are delighted with the results, and the British are now admitting the superiority of American precision bombing in knocking off certain targets.

Germans Avoiding a Fight.

In the text book of air power, after you have attacked the enemy's aircraft industry, you aim at the enemy's planes in the air. And that's what the RAF and AAF are trying to do now. But the Germans are avoiding a fight. They are trying to check losses by keeping their planes on the ground.

Occasionally, returning pilots contradict this. "The man who says the Luftwaffe is licked is just plain crazy!" And they have battle wounds for evidence. Explanation is that the Nazis concentrate fighter strength over one important target.

Air experts say Germany is now in the desperate plight England was in at the climax of the blitz of 1940-41. The British now admit that, if the Germans had come over a few more times, they would have broken the back of England. But the Luftwaffe simply couldn't stand the terrific losses.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

The U. S. Quartermaster corps now operates a slow-down-the-war system which requires personal guides and 20 minutes extra time to conduct visitors from the entrance of the building to various offices.

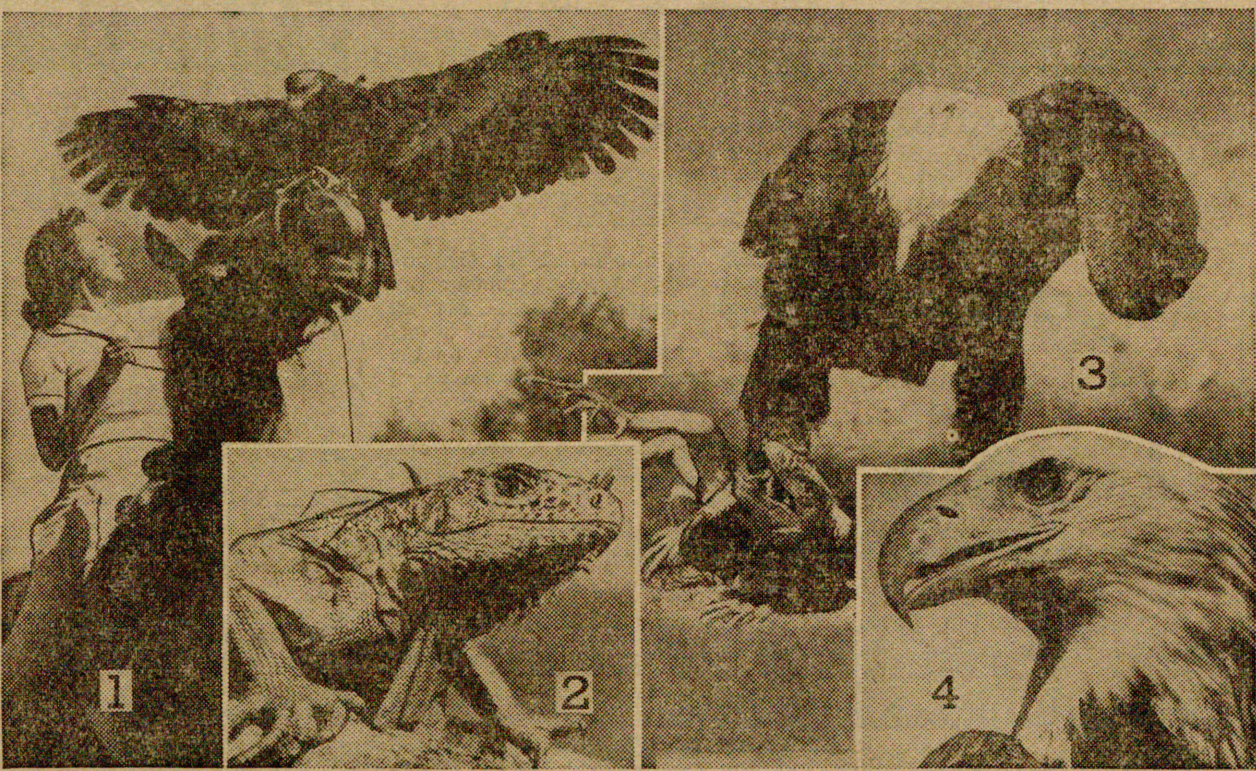

"Man Mountain" Dean, the famous wrestler, has risen to the rank of sergeant at Camp Ritchie, Md., where he supervises the "pick-up squad," removing trash from the company streets. Dean is down to a mere 275 pounds, after losing 90 pounds at this job.

Running Hot, Sitting Cold, at Army Climatic Tests

The infantry takes it standing up—and sitting down—in tests at the Corps Climatic laboratory at Lawrence, Mass. It is here that the quartermaster corps charts reaction of men and checks effectiveness of equipment under simulated tropical and arctic temperatures. Left: Three infantrymen with full packs undergo discomforts of an endless treadmill hike under broiling sun in the jungle chamber of the laboratory. Right: Observer checks clothing and condition of soldier who sits it out in searing 40 below zero frigidty of the cold test room.

(2) "Tequila's" enemy—the iguana lizard. The reptile is five feet long, with a well-armed back, whip-like tail and is a dangerous foe. (3) Following a furious encounter "Tequila" has pinned his leathery adversary to the ground with a powerful claw to show him who's boss. (4) Closeup of the conqueror "Tequila."

Culling Flock Boosts Production of Eggs

Hens That Don't Lay Merely Waste Feed

Because of the rise in feed prices and the decline in egg prices, poultry growers should thoroughly cull their laying flocks and maintain as high egg production as possible, says C. E. Parrish, in charge of Poultry Extension at North Carolina State college.

He suggests that flocks be culled at night, when the birds will be disturbed as little as possible. Using a flashlight, the grower can take the loafers from his flock and save on feed costs. The non-laying hens show a pale, dry comb, which is shrinking up and scaly. The face has a yellow tint. In the beak and eye-ring, the yellow color reappears when laying stops.

"Most heavy breeds and all yellow-skinned varieties of poultry show these changes in pigmentation, or bleaching out, except such white-skinned varieties as Orpingtons," Parrish says.

He points out that the comb of the laying hen is soft, warm, waxy and full of blood. The face is bright red, and the beak and eye-ring is bleached out and white.

"In culling hens, late molters should be retained as breeders if the grower plans to reproduce his flock from the present group of hens," advises Parrish. "Cull out but do not sell out."

"The non-laying hens or pullets which are culled from the flock can be used at home or canned for future use, or they can be placed on the market."

Parrish warns that poultry not fit for food should be killed and buried deeply, as a disease control measure.

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood. You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

W.N.U. FEATURES

THE STORY THUS FAR: Lieut. Col. Frank Kurtz, Flying Fortress pilot, tells of that fatal day when the Japs struck in the Philippines. Eight of his men are killed fleeing for shelter and Old 99, his favorite Flying Fortress, is demolished before it can get off the ground. They escape to Australia, spend Christmas day there, and shortly after General Brereton orders them to take the bombers to Java. From there they start on flight for Davao, in the Philippines. They see a great concentration of ships below them—a Pearl Harbor set-up, but fighters come up and ack-ack gets hot. They make the bomb run, the bombs are flicked out one by one, the bombardier shouts "bombs away," and they turn and speed for home.

CHAPTER IX

"I poured on every ounce of power we had, and was about to turn for the getaway when I saw, just in time, that old Jim, who had dropped his bombs before I did, had already started his turn to get off the target a few seconds before me.

"The next thing I did was to call down to the bombardier and the navigator to come on up and tell me what we'd done to the Japs.

"They said it had been a sight to watch. A few of the Jap cruisers and destroyers had managed to get under way, and their wakes laced the water in great spirals and swirls as they tried to dodge the bombs. Aside from these few, they said, we'd caught the Japs absolutely flat-footed. If there had been enough of us, we could have blown a chunk out of their fleet they would never have recovered from.

"As it was, they had watched four direct hits on a Jap battleship, seen pieces of debris flying in every direction and smoke starting to billow up. In addition to this, our squadron had sunk three smaller craft—two cruisers and a transport.

"They said our bomb pattern had churned the whole area white with spouts of foam, and what few ships had their power up were running around like crazy. They said thousands of skilled personnel had been killed or drowned, and also that we had torn hell out of the dock workers and docks at Davao Harbor.

"Only I don't have time to gloat long, for something approaching us from ahead catches my eye through the windshield. It's practically flying our course and our altitude, except that it's off to the left. But am I seeing a ghost? It can't be what I think it is, a Messerschmitt 110, the kind that Ernst Udet told me all about in Berlin when I visited there in 1934. There can't be a Messerschmitt 110 in this hemisphere, but what else could it be with that split tail?

"He doesn't alter his course and I don't alter mine; and after he's passed the point where I could set up a collision course with him, I begin to come to my senses, to realize that I'm the pilot of a Flying Fortress and my job is to get home safely with these boys and this plane, which was never designed to engage in dogfights with Messerschmitts.

"We got back to Malang feeling pretty pleased with ourselves," said Frank, "and I personally felt I had made headway settling my old Philippine score. But in Java we found there were troubles ahead, and the least of these was that our Navy was accusing us of bombing their snips. They didn't say any of them had been hit, just that they'd had to beat off an attack, and it occurred to me that this might explain all those fireworks which came whooping up under our chins through the overcast that night over the Celebes Sea. But we were never sure.

"So we said, 'Then why don't you tell us where your ships are going to be?' but it seemed that had never been done—a ruling from the Navy Department in Washington. I guess those guys must take some kind of a bomb-sight oath never to tell anything to anybody who doesn't wear black shoes.

"But plenty more was going on. It developed that our smash at the Jap fleet in Davao had been almost too successful. Because Davao was no longer a safe base for them, they had apparently boosted up their schedule by two or three weeks. Our reconnaissance went clear up to the Davao area and reported nothing there; then we found out the whole gang had moved out together and they were off the coast of Borneo, moving down into Macassar Strait, and it was clear they intended to clean out Borneo—not only because of our advance bases there, but because they wanted the rich oil fields at Tarakan and Balikpapan on the eastern coast of Borneo, where the oil is so rich they say you can pump it right into the bunkers of ships. Of course they'd built up big oil reserves which they had bought from us before Pearl Harbor, but now they were out to grab off some fields of their own.

"And who was going to stop them? It was up to us to try, because we seemed to be the only force the United Nations had in that area big enough to tackle the Jap fleet.

"We were briefed before dawn—to do everything that was known about this big Jap gang of ships off northeast Borneo—and at 6:30 in the morning nine of us took off from the Malang Field. We planned to fly over the Java Sea and then inland over Borneo, carrying to start with an altitude of about 9,500 feet. But about eight o'clock we hit a tropical front which was a nightmare—fog so dense you could hardly see to light the tip of your cigarette.

"When we saw it coming ahead, each V spread out a little, so we wouldn't collide. Only we didn't dream how dense and how long it was going to be.

"It was like trying to fly inside a giant bale of cotton—so dense that when you looked out at the side you could barely see your own wing tips. And looking straight ahead, that bale of cotton seemed tightly packed against your windshield, only it was a dull flat gray-white, like the cotton I imagine they'd spin winding sheets out of. And you'd stare into the windshield, trying to see how close you were to your wing man, but there would only be that flat white, squeezed tight against your windshield, muffling everything. Then all of a sudden, the wing of the plane ahead would come surging into view out of that winding sheet, so terribly big and close that you would frantically jerk back all four throttles to cut your power, and begin fishtailing your rudder to slow the big brute down a little, praying that by this you'd miss crashing into the plane ahead at least by a few yards.

"We'd been fighting through it on instruments, because inside that cotton bale you couldn't see stars or ocean, and it took so much hard flying that I was having my co-pilot handle the power for me. If I thought I was dropping behind the rest, maybe I would get lost and have to go over the target alone, which by now we knew was a dangerous business. I'd say to him, 'All right, give me a little more mercury now—about four inches.' Then when I'd catch a glimpse of the plane ahead I'd say: 'Okay, now you can bring it back to thirty inches. We're sitting okay—I can see him fine.' And I could for a minute or so.

"Without warning I break into the clear. I haven't climbed over that cloud, but instead have flown out of one of the walls of an enormous cloud canyon and am now flying around in the clear air between the precipices.

"Ahead of me looms the other canyon wall. Maybe it's thirty miles away, maybe fifty—you can't ever judge the distance of a cloud, because they don't come in standard sizes. But cloud canyons like this one are one magnificent sight that you never see any place except in the high skies.

"Because, you see, the morning sun was slanting down from behind me, over the top of the canyon wall out of which I had just come, to hit the top half of the cloud-canyon wall ahead. That top half might have been built out of burnished silver feather beds piled one on top of the other, and yet you looked again and it seemed to be so firm it could be carved of glistening ice or marble.

"I am wondering if old Jim is also looking at all this when suddenly his voice comes out of nowhere into my earphones.

"Connally to Kurtz,' he is calling.

"Kurtz answering Connally,' I say.

"Have you broken into the clear yet?" he asks.

"Into the clear, Jim, at 14,500. Now I'm turning onto 270 degrees.' That means I'm turning west to fly down that canyon to see if I can't catch sight of Jim, whose voice is so loud in my ears. Suddenly I see a single Fortress ahead there in the canyon. I pick him up when the reflecting sun hits his uptilted wing. He is circling.

"I think I see you, Jim,' I call. 'Continue to circle.' I head toward the plane and fall in on its wing, continuing the long slow circle inside the canyon in the hope we'll pick up some of the others, and won't have to go in on the target alone. Meanwhile the radio operators of the two planes have started talking to each other by winking their Aldis lamps back and forth. We're so near the target I don't want to use the radio any more than necessary. And just then I spot a third plane—about 500 feet below us and farther west down the canyon. Just as I'm wondering which one it is, my radio operator reports that the plane we're circling on isn't Jim at all, it's Bill Bohnaker. So we drop on down the canyon and sure enough, that third plane turns out to be old Jim. I can read his number plain now on his tail. Now there are three of us in the circle, wondering what in hell has become of the other six. We haven't got the gas to stay in this golden dream castle much longer. But just then my radio operator comes in with a message from Combs, the leader. God knows where he is, but he's telling us, 'Continuing to target,' and he's sending it out by key, where he can use code, because he doesn't use voice so close to the target as he must by now be, because most of these damn Zero pilots seemed to have graduated from Los Angeles High School and understand English as well as you do.

"All right, continue it is, so now we plunged back into that damned front—the opposite canyon wall—and the gray mist packed down around my windshield again. We continued to climb in that deathly whiteness—first one wing and then the other surging into my view. I flew it for forty-five minutes and decided it was just too much to risk crashing into each other when we were so close to the target. So without any message to Jim or Bill I decided I'd spread out. I flew 45 degrees for thirty seconds, then back thirty more seconds, and then continued on the old course—flying on instruments, of course. But now that we were staggered both in altitude and in interval, it wasn't so bad.

"Finally we broke out into the clear at 27,000 feet at a quarter after ten and discovered we had lost interval only by a very little. But I was groggy—we'd been on oxygen for four and a half hours already.

"But the weather was still playing tricks. Now the mist was coming in great tufts, thicker than cotton wadding, while below us was a thin layer of overcast.

"We were getting close to the target now. Should we climb higher? There wasn't much point, because if we did, that overcast layer might thicken so that we couldn't see the target, and we'd have to come down below it to unload.

"But where's Bill Bohnaker? I look back and see that he's very slowly peeling off. I wonder why. Probably supercharger trouble. Then I think to myself, 'There he goes, and I'd hoped maybe at least three of us could go in together.' Because in my mind is that rain-check idea—the score isn't settled yet, and if that target is open at all, I've made up my mind I'm going in. And I think to myself, 'Here we go again, Jim, just you and me.'

"About this time I hear a gunner on Combs' ship—they've broken radio silence, which means they're on the target—saying, 'Lots of enemy fighters sighted!'

"But they're still far ahead, out of sight. Here we are again, in a staggered attack—the stragglers to bear the brunt of what the first flights stir up. We ought to know better, but still I'm going on in.

"The weather gets crazier and crazier—these enormous tufts not stratified at all, but floating around at almost any altitude. And my co-pilot seems to be fascinated by a big black one that isn't shaped quite like a thunderhead. It might be one of those Dakota tornado funnels, only it doesn't revolve.

"Then suddenly he says, staring at it: 'Hell, Frank, that isn't a cloud at all—look! I follow his finger, and down at the base of that cloud, on the ground, is a crackling, flaming oil field! The gallant Dutch are scorching the earth for fair—burning up their Borneo oil fields right in the face of the advancing Japs. Millions of dollars' worth of it. Imagine all of East Texas crackling and pouring black smoke into the sky.

"We can't stop to watch a billion dollars go up in black smoke. The Dutch are doing their job and we have ours, which just now is scanning for fighters. I realize that in this weather and so close to the target they might be anywhere, only for some reason I never think of them when my No. 1 starboard engine starts juddering around in its mount, rattling the whole plane.

"I only curse my luck and ask, 'If we were going to have engine trouble, why in hell couldn't it have been on the way home instead of now, when we're about to begin our run over the target?'

"I watch the oil pressure drop sickeningly, and still it doesn't dawn on me what hit that motor. I'm just sore at it for letting me down. And also, what will I do—nurse it along by feathering it, or see if I can't give it maybe 1,000 RPM's (revolutions per minute) while I push the other three up to 2,000?"

CHRIST'S VICTORY OVER DEATH

LESSON TEXT: I Corinthians 15:41-58.
GOLDEN TEXT: Thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.—I Corinthians 15:57.

"If there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen: and if Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain" (I Cor. 15:13, 14).

In other words, the truth of the resurrection is an indispensable foundation stone upon which the structure of Christian doctrine rests. Beware of those who would spiritualize or explain it away!

The facts are there—fully proved and dependable; there is no need for doubt or question.

In our lesson we find:

I. The Great Change (vv. 41-50).

Since it is obvious that our present bodies are not suitable for the spiritual world (v. 50), and that there comes, sooner or later (and almost always, it seems, too soon!), an end to their existence, there must be a radical transforming change. This takes place in the resurrection of the body.

To make such a blessed—and to the human mind, almost inconceivable—truth clear, Paul uses the effective method of comparison and contrast. Following his skillful use of the illustration of the sowing of grain, which dies that it may live again (I Cor. 15:35-39), he gives us a picture of the resurrection body.

That which we must put away in the silent earth at the end of life's day is a natural body, weak and lacking eternal glory (v. 43). It has already shown the evidences of decay and corruption, which we know shall be completely manifested in a short time. Marvelous as it has been as an earthly body, it cannot go with us into eternity (vv. 47, 48), for it is natural and not at home in the spiritual world.

Note, then, the great change that takes place. In the resurrection, the body for the eternal activity of the believer stands out as glorious, incorrupt and incorruptible, powerful, spiritually quickened, and heavenly. What more could be said?

Here we stand amazed and at the same time encouraged by the revelation of what God has in store for us who believe on Christ. Death does not end all—it is only the beginning of real fullness of life and usefulness for the Christian.

And all that is because of—

II. The Great Victory (vv. 51-57).

Death is an enemy, indeed man's great enemy. There are those who have tried to deny that fact, to explain it away. They talk about death as "the great adventure," etc., but when one actually comes to face it, the truth is realized. It is an enemy.

But in Christ, death is a conquered enemy. The blessed message of Easter day is that "death is swallowed up in victory" (v. 54). Death could not hold our Lord (v. 57), and He was the "first fruits of them that sleep" (v. 20). This assures us that because He lives, we too, who believe on Him, shall live.

So death has lost its sting, and the grave its victory (v. 56). With Paul we cry out today from the depths of our beings, "Thanks be to God, who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ" (v. 57). This is a day of joy, of singing, of victorious faith.

But the joy of Easter is not simply something to warm one's heart. It is—

III. The Great Incentive (v. 58).

Living for Christ and serving Him in this world is our greatest privilege, but we are all so human that we need encouragement. We need an incentive.

The Bible speaks much of the rewards of God to those who are faithful, and gives many assurances that we are not engaged in a vain task. At times it seems as though men only reject, and the work of the Lord moves but slowly, if at all.

Let us not be discouraged or disheartened. We follow and serve a victorious Christ, One who has triumphed over death and hell. What we do for Him is never done in vain.

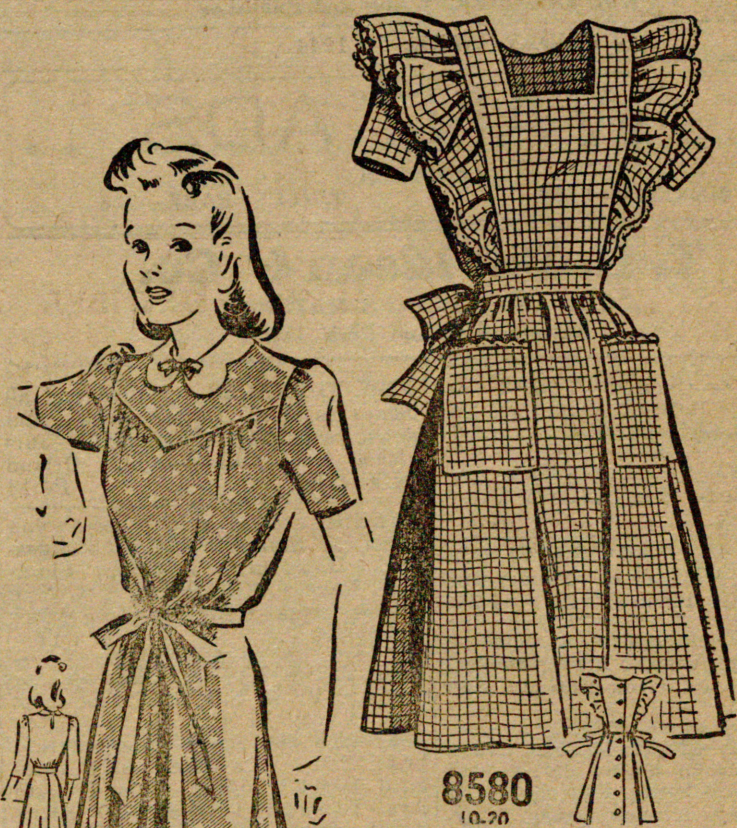

Note the helpful thought here. We are to be "unmovable," and yet "abounding." That seems paradoxical, but it is not, for it is only the life steadfast and unmovable at the center which can abound at the circumference.

That center is the resurrected Christ, and when we are established in Him, we are ready to live the abundant life for Him.

Easter is a glad day for a believer, but it is a sad day for the unbeliever. He may attempt to maintain an outward appearance of joy, but he will know in his heart that the message of the day is definitely not for him. And yet it is, for today he may by faith take as his Saviour the Risen One and enter into fullness of joy in Him.

So many people "celebrate" Easter all their lives, year after year, but never truly "keep the feast." May many such friends make this Easter day, 1944, the beginning of a new life in Christ!

Odd Ant-Eating Aardvark No. 1 Animal in Dictionary

Principal distinction of the peculiar looking aardvark is that it is the first animal in the dictionary. The animal with the strange combination of two a's in its name is a stout little creature with a pig-like snout, tubular mouth, large ears, long tail, and short muscular limbs. It attains a length of five feet, including the tail.

It is a member of the ant-eater family, but it is the only ant-eater with teeth. Although it feeds on insects, it can go long periods without food.

The female aardvark produces only single births and carries her baby around on her back during its slow growth.

IN A WAR TORN WORLD

Forty thousand American soldiers and sailors killed in action since the beginning of the war should make America eager for the Easter message, Dr. Walter A. Maier, of Concordia Theological Seminary, declared here today in a Lutheran Hour broadcast. Emphasizing that while Mohammedanism, not Christianity, teaches the immediate translation in to a sensual paradise for all who fall on the field of battle, faith in the risen Christ promises the resurrection of the body and the life eternal to all who die in Christ.

Wartime Russia, Dr. Maier continued, this year observes its most widespread Easter celebration since the Red Revolution. In the U. S. S. R., the war and the assurance of the Easter truth are bringing multitudes, formerly covered by atheism, back to God. Similarly in our country the pledge of Christ's triumph over death can give masses the hope they need, particularly for the anguish of the invasion before us.

"Chocolate chicks and made-in-Japan bunnies will not be found in American homes this year," the radio preacher stated. "But in the grim reality of the conflict which our loved ones wage across the seas and in the light of their self sacrifice, this Easter in our war torn twentieth century should be what the anniversary of Christ's resurrection was in the first century—a day of dedication to the faith."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Unreality" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 2.

The Golden Text was, "Truly in vain is salvation hoped for from the hills, and from the multitude of mountains: truly in the Lord our God is the salvation of Israel" (Jer. 3: 23).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols? for ye are the temple of the living God: . . . Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, And will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty" (II Cor. 6: 16, 17, 18).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "'Now,' cried the apostle, 'is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation,'—meaning, not that now men must prepare for a future-world salvation, or safety, but that now is the time in which to experience that salvation in spirit and in life. Now is the time for so-called material pains and material pleasures to pass away, for both are unreal, because impossible in Science" (p. 39).

LESS EASTERN COAL FOR WEST

Solid Fuels Administrator Ickes has announced that scarcity of domestic size bituminous coal mined in southern Appalachian areas will force a drastic cut in household use of such fuel.

Consumers of those scarce coals—from southern West Virginia, eastern Kentucky and parts of Virginia and Tennessee—must meet at least 25 per cent of their annual requirements from alternative fuels where available.

St. Louis as Example
As an example, though Ickes did not mention it, St. Louis, which burns much smokeless coal, from West Virginia, would be hit by the regulations and St. Louis consumers apparently would have to get a larger proportion of their requirements from nearby Illinois or elsewhere.

The new regulations imposed limitations on the tonnage to be delivered to householders and other domestic consumers using the coal year 1944-45, which began on April 1, of bituminous coal mined in the eastern half of the country, and of coke not sold in the East and of biquettes and packaged fuel.

Chief Provisions of Ruling

Chief provisions of the new limitation program:

1. No domestic consumer of those fuels may receive from his retail dealer, tonnage greater than his annual requirements. The amount he had on hand April 1 is to be deducted from the tonnage he may receive.

2. No domestic consumer of the scarce bituminous coals mined in districts No. 7 and 8, southern West Virginia, western Kentucky and parts of Tennessee, may receive before October 1 more than 75 per cent of the amount he will need for the whole coal year.

Also Applies To Western Coke
This regulation also applies to "Western" coke and to briquettes and packaged fuel.

3. Dealers in areas where alternative coals are available, such as coal mined in Ohio, western Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana and Iowa, must arrange for a supply of these coals to be delivered in spring and summer to supplement the scarcer bituminous coal. Dealers are not required to deliver the scarce fuels to consumers whose equipment permits use of alternative fuels—provided that the dealer is able to supply the alternative fuel.

4. A procedure is set up under which domestic consumers unable to secure a supply may get help in obtaining emergency deliveries.

Now, More Than Ever, We Need the Service of This Sound, Able American

Fred E. Busbey has squarely met his two-fold obligation as your REPRESENTATIVE in CONGRESS.

As your REPRESENTATIVE he has been alert to the needs and requirements of the district. By sheer hard work he has established an unprecedented record of service to his people. Each of the thousands of inquiries and requests that have poured into his office from the people of this district has received courteous, sincere attention. His record as a public servant is one of conscientious diligence and faithfulness.

As a MEMBER of CONGRESS, Fred E. Busbey has won more recognition than any of the 64 new Republican Congressmen. Never a chair-warmer, never a rubber stamp, Fred E. Busbey has been courageous and independent in voicing what he believes to be the will of the people he represents. His colleagues, quick to recognize his ability and integrity, have named him to important Congressional Committees, an honor almost unprecedented for a new member.

Because of his active interest and long experience in behalf of veterans, he was appointed to serve on the Congressional World War Veterans Legislation Committee which has in a few months enacted more legislation beneficial to service men of this war than was passed in all of World War I.

His 21 years of service in Americanism work for the American Legion was responsible for his appointment to the Special Committee to Investigate Un-American Activities. He is also a member of the Patents, and Republican Food Study Committees.

Fred E. Busbey's record is one of a sound and stable American who recognizes that the most vital problem at hand is to win the war as quickly as is humanly possible.

The return of Fred E. Busbey, and men of his calibre to Congress, insures Victory at the earliest possible time without sacrificing the American way of life for which we fight.

Eleanor Should Stay Home

The American public is constantly reading about the galavanting of Eleanor of the White House, using gasoline on non-essential trips around the world, while the common citizen has his A card rations reduced to the bone. In many quarters it is said there is no need for cutting the gasoline supply, but that this move is merely a political one.

Now that Eleanor has taken another trip it is interesting to review some of the highlights of her trip to the Pacific area. A few months ago President Roosevelt in a speech, counseled the people at home to be patient about gasoline rationing and he mentioned that a Flying Fortress consumes 1,100 gallons of gasoline in a mission of 700 miles, which is the equivalent of about 375 A ration units and enough to move a car five times across the continent.

Mrs. Roosevelt made a trip of 26,000 miles and consumed 41,070 gallons representing, according to her husband's statistics, 130,875 A coupons and 185 trips in a car across the continent. She took this trip in a great four engine bomber that had been remodeled inside and fitted with seats and bed. This plane was manned by two captains, three master sergeants, and a staff sergeant.

When one of the news correspondents asked a private how he felt about being visited by the President's wife, he replied: "I'd rather be visited by my own."

Asks Backing on Record

Mr. Herman C. Grassle is asking County who believe that business methods are needed in the conduct of County business and that all funds coming into the coffers of the County shall be strictly accounted for.

He says records of the County Auditor's office offer proof that during the first six months of his service he recovered or saved the county approximately $6,000, an amount equal to two years salary for the office. For the past year the sum of $5,573,166.71 of County funds were audited in his office. Mr. Grassle, through establishment of a general control ledger makes possible a record for the first time in the history of the County of all appropriations and expenditures, together with authority for the same. This control ledger is open at all times to interested citizens, who are accorded the fullest information. "It is you who pay this money to the County in taxes in one form or another and you are entitled to know who receives it and for what purpose," says Mr. Grassle.

Leading financial organizations, keeping watch on methods which have a most important bearing on credits are loud in their praise of the thoroughness with which records are now maintained in the County Auditor's office, the safe guarding going even beyond that required of the office for duties prescribed by law.

UNION SCHOOL NEWS

The Union School Achievement club officers; Mabel Uthe, Marvin Rauch, Clara Burkhardt and Stuart Bowyer with their teacher, Miss Clara Myrick attended the annual convention March 31, at the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago.

Many people believe Alaska to be all ice, snow and dog teams. but when Mr. Wm. L. Darden, who has lived in Alaska for twelve years, gave a talk and presented a movie on Alaska and the building of the Alcan highway, he led us to believe very differently.

The movie he presented showed in technicolor, many beautiful mountain, lake and river scenes interesting and rare pictures of wild life and gardens with beautiful flowers and vegetables. The secret of this growth is due to the long hours of sun light in the summer. He also showed us many interesting facts about the salmon industry.

Mr. Darden discouraged anyone from thinking of making a trip on the Alcan highway to Alaska for a vacation. It is made of gravel and is pretty rough in spots. It is over 1600 miles long, through much sparsely settled country.

Six months after the close of the war, that portion of the road that it is Canada will be turned over to the Canadian government.

In the afternoon two British R.A. F. flyers gave an interesting talk relating to their experiences on bombing missions over the continent and side lights on their trip in this country. This was followed by a period of questions. We were successful in securing the autographs of both Warrant Officers Pearce and Smith.

We had time to enjoy a few of the exhibits in the museum among them the coal mine, and the telephone exhibits. In all, we had a very educational and interesting day and some fun, too.

—Mabel Uthe, Ach. Club reporter The monthly Cub Pack meeting was held March 30. There are now thirteen cubs in the Pack. The regular meeting of the Bremen Home Bureau was held March 28 at the home of Mrs. Fred Willman, Sr., Mrs. Marie Cornelius, our Home Advisor, gave the major lesson on soybeans and left over vegetables.

Members please note the change of this meeting which will be on Monday, April 24 instead of Tuesday the 25th. The major lesson will be oil wall treatment, given by Mrs. E. Hug and Mrs. E. Grunst Jr. The minor lesson on Public speaking will be given by Mrs. Wm. Kopp and Mrs. Grant Wortman. Anyone wishing to attend this meeting call Tinley Park 387 at 1:30.

Mrs. S. Willman Sr. Vice chair.

One week from today, the first dance of the newly reorganized Tinley Youth Group will be held. Dancing begins promptly at 9 p. m. in the Tinley school gym. The Thorneaters, a band consisting of Thorne high fellows, will furnish the music. From all reports, ticket sales have been very good, but there are plenty to be sold yet. So come on all you Tinley Park people, get your tickets now and share with us a great evening of fine dancing. We want to see a lot of the Mothers and Fathers there, so that you might hear about this new organization.

Classes for instruction in dancing will be held this coming Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 4 to 5:30 in the school gym. Those who need to brush up a bit or need the fundamental instructions are invited.

We had planned to publish our Constitution this week; but due to its length we found this to be impossible. This committee though, hopes to be able to give a brief resume of the Constitution in this paper shortly. As originally planned it will be posted at the dance next Friday evening.

Have you submitted a suggestion for a name for this new group yet? So that we are able to announce our new name at the dance the box will be removed from Cavetts Drug store tomorrow. If you think of any more names, drop them in now.

See you at next week's big dance. "The Publicity Committee"

Mrs. Fred Hopman entertained the Tinley Park buncos club at her home Thursday afternoon.

James Fulton is quite ill at his home.

Mrs. Rose Teske has been ill for two weeks with bronchial pneumonia. She was quite ill on her 92nd birthday but is now improved.

The first meeting of the Home Gardening course, sponsored by the Tinley Park Garden club, under the supervision of the Federal Government, with Mr. Mayhew, Agricultural teacher at Bloom Township high school in charge, was held Monday night in the Tinley Park school.

The date announced last week, as May 3, should have read April 3. Nevertheless there was a fair attendance.

The next meeting will be held Monday evening at 8 p.m. sharp in the school building. Those attending are requested to use the west door.

The next lesson will deal with the selection of varieties of vegetables and their culture. An interesting movie, "Ever Since Eden" will be shown. This picture is the story of the evolution of the tomato.

It is the plan of Mr. Mayhew, to conduct these meetings in the form of a round table discussion, answering the questions of those present.

He urges everyone to bring their gardening problems and questions to these meetings so they may be a benefit to others.

It was announced at last weeks meeting that a soil test would be made. Each person is asked to bring 1-2 a cup of the garden soil, as a sample, to the next meeting and it will be tested.

The Federal Government is asking that 22 million Victory gardens be planted in the United States this year. This is an increase of 10 to 15 percent over last year and 20 percent more canned goods will be allotted to the army this year, which means that much less for civilians.

The government urges civilians to raise more food and can more food this year.

At the completion of the 5-weeks course, a diploma will be given to everyone attending all 5 lessons. This diploma is from the state and will be a proud possession of every one entitled to it.

SERVICEMEN'S NEWS

2-15-44

Citizens Service Comm.

Leila Moss, Corr.

I received your letter of Feb. 2 and was so sorry to hear the bad news about our mutual friend and neighbor Lulu Rogers. She was such a hard worker in all the different organizations and all the men and women in Service will miss her cheerful and newsy letters. The Tinley Park Times gets here a little late. The last issue I received was Jan. 7. It takes regular and second class mail about a month to six weeks to get here. Air and V mail about one week.

Please don't send the Easter package but would appreciate a letter instead. There is not a thing I need but thank you for asking.

Sincerely,
Harry M. Uthe

New Guinea

Feb. 21, 1944

Dear Friends:

Received your letter today and was very glad to hear from you I am still about the same as usual. I am on the Island of New Guinea at the present time. The Tinley Park Times has been getting to me about 4 to 6 weeks old. But I sure enjoy getting it just the same. I got 8 letters today and two papers. It was the best mail call we had for some time. I still have a few on the way I hope. I have seen enough coconuts, ants and mosquitos to last me a life time. Well I guess I'll have to close for now hoping this finds everything fine in Tinley.

As always,
Your friend,
Oliver Barr

Please send the package that you mentioned in your letter. I would sure appreciate it. As things like that are rather hard to get.

O.V.B.

Feb. 25, 1944

Hi Folks:

How is everything in dear old Tinley Park. I hope all right. It's been a long time since I wrote you folks so I just made up my mind to write you tonight while I had the time. First of all I want to thank you all for all the things you have sent me, it sure is swell to get things from home, that's one thing the boys will never forget.

Well I moved again, this time to Shreeveport, La. and I must say this is the most beautiful camp I have seen. This place has everything a soldier can ask for. Before the war it was a country club so you can just about picture what a pretty camp this is. The officers here stay in those beautiful homes like they have at the country clubs, the barracks here are the best you can ask for also.

I am still doing M P work. We are training for overseas duty, so I don't expect to be on this side very long. I will be home on furlough sometime next month, so I hope to see all my friends once more. I can hardly wait to get my hands on those furlough papers. That's one thing every soldier looks forward to.

Well folks I must sign off for this time as it is just about time for lights out. Hoping to see you all soon.

Your friend,
Art Lehman.

P. S. I want to say hello to all my buddies in the service.

Feb. 27, 1944

Dear Friends:

Was glad to hear from you. I am sorry I did not answer your letter sooner but we have been kept pretty busy.

We just came off a maneuver out in Tennessee, so that is why I had that address, but now I have a new address.

I get the Tinley paper regularly and I am sure glad of it because I always look for it. When I read it, it makes me feel like home.

The weather was pretty nice down here but we had some rain.

Your friend,
Pfc. Lester W. Schilling

Feb. 26, 1944

Dear Friends:

I received your letter today and was very glad to hear from you. Have been wanting to write for some time but never seemed to get around to it. I am still here in England and they are keeping us fairly busy. I haven't seen any of the boys from Tinley Park lately. Its usually quite difficult to meet one another as we don't have the same days off. And some of us are only about 30 miles apart. As we travel much it is rather difficult to visit one another.

I still get the Tinley Park Times all the time and they take about 4 or 5 weeks to get here. Sure is nice to receive them tho. I would very much like for you to send me a package of sweets, as they sure hit the spot. As you probably know we only get 3 ounces of candy a week here.

I was very sorry to hear about Lulu Rogers passing away. Will miss her newsy letters. In closing I wish to thank you for everything I am fine and hope the same of you all.

Fred Meyer

Dear Friends:

I hope that the speed of V-mail will make my period of absence from writing to you in order to thank you for the carton of cigarettes, seem short.

I was unavoidably delayed in writing although as all your surprising gifts do arrive at a most opportune time, as you all know we over here smoke more cigarettes at one time than at another, nuf said.

I am well and hope to be home this year (two months to go).

Thanks again for your gifts and please continue to send the Times.

Dear Friends:

Just received your letter yesterday explaining the postal regulations. By all means send me your Easter box my sweet tooth continues to give me a good deal of trouble. Have long since polished off your excellent Christmas box and will be looking forward to receiving the Easter package.

I do receive the paper for which you have my sincere thanks. I appreciate it more than you might expect. I was very sorry to hear of Mrs. Rogers' unfortunate accident. She took very good care of us and we will miss her and I'm sure you must. My folks wrote me about it telling me that it was a very well attended funeral. She must of been very popular and well liked in Tinley as she is now in fact all over the world.

However, I'm sure you good folks have found someone among you who can carry on the work ably.

Most of the boys who write home stress their desire for the war's end it is my uttermost desire also. War is a deplorable and most unhappy affair any way you look at it. I want to thank you again for making the days and months a little pleasanter for the boys and myself.

Sincerely yours,

R. W. McKelvey.

Feb. 25, 1944

Dear Friends and Citizens Service Comm.:

Received your very welcome letter this week and was very glad to hear from you. The news of the death of Mrs. Rogers I am sure was quite a shock to all of us and what she did for all the servicemen of Tinley will always be remembered.

I am well and in the best of health and at the present time am stationed somewhere in the Hawaiian Islands. The scenery here is very beautiful and while on pass I have visited the city of Honolulu, Waikiki Beach and Pearl Harbor and also seen the Pali Pass. The climate is quite warm here and we get a chance to go swimming in the ocean quite often. I receive the Tinley Times quite regularly and the home town news is very interesting.

It would be very much appreciated if you would send me some candy, nuts and razor blades. The boys down here always have a sweet tooth. Here's hoping the snow isn't too deep out there this winter. I also want to say hello to my many friends of Tinley Park and community. Also hope this war will come to a speedy conclusion in the near future.

I remain your friend,
Elmer Steinborn

Feb. 28, 1944

Dear Friends:

I got your letter Feb. 13 and was glad to hear from Tinley Park and that it is still there and in good shape. I am glad the people of Tinley still think of the boys in service. I am feeling very good but I didn't get the paper for a month or so. I enjoyed it very much when I got it. We have wet weather about two months a year and the rest is nice and warm. I would rather be home and have the snow and cold. The young men are all in service that's why dances and stuff don't turn out so big. I would like a good billing pencil with an eraser on it. Will you please send me one of those Easter boxes, as long as you want to send all the men in service one. Did you hear from Adeline Wolak lately, I didn't hear from her for a month. That's all for now.

I hope you are all well and so long.

S/Sgt. Phillip Fowler, son of Mr. Wm. Fowler of Tinley Park, has won the right to wear Wings and Boots of the United States Army Paratroops. He has completed four weeks of jump training during which he made five jumps from a plane in flight, the last a tactical jump at night involving a combat problem on landing.

Housewives Are Cautioned

Since Spring has officially arrived this means that officially, too the Spring housecleaning season has started.

Homemakers need no reminder of this but a word of warning is issued today by the Greater Chicago Safety Council to save many women and householders from possible death and serious injury as the rugs are rolled up and the winter dust exodus begins.

Accidents in the home took the lives of 624 Chicagoans last year. Nationally home accidents took the lives of 31,500 persons and injured 4,750,000 in 1943. Both in Chicago and in the nation home accidents took the heaviest toll of any classification of accidents.

In a series of don'ts for housewives the following specific hazards are listed by the Council:

1. Don't allow rolled rugs to block doorways for yourself or others to stumble over.
2. Don't permit stray tacks or nails to lie about on floors to be stepped on.
3. Don't try to save steps by piling your arms so full of things that you will miscalculate a step in ascending or descending stairs.
4. Don't climb onto a rocker or an unsteady chair to take down curtains or draperies. A solid, steady step ladder was designed for this purpose.
5. Don't use the tops of cabinets or mantles as storage places until you want to return them to their proper places, as books, pictures or anything with a tendency to slide can easily fall and strike someone.

6. Don't let dirty rags or any debris accumulate for several days since the fire hazard is greatly increased.

7. Don't use highly inflammable cleaning fluids near open fire.

New Plastic Paints Make Decorating Easy

Amateur with brush or applicator can do professional job.

THE new war-born plastic wall finishes make redecorating these days a far cry from old-style painting, when rooms were unusable for days while 2 or 3 coats of slow-drying paint were applied. Dora May Talcott writes in the Rural Home section of Capper's Farmer, a magazine read by 1,250,000 farm families.

With these new paints that can be applied by an amateur and that dry in an hour, rooms can be lived in the same day. There's no paint odor.

"You can paint right over the wallpaper with these new flat paints," Miss Talcott writes. "One coat covers most any wall and ceiling surface, including painted walls, plywood, wallboard, brick and basement walls."

"Employing a plastic base that makes it extremely durable and washable, this paint comes in paste form and is thinned with water—1 gallon of paste makes 1½ gallons of paint. It dries to a perfectly flat finish without lap marks or streaks, yet it can be washed with soap and water to remove finger marks and smudges."

BONDS OVER AMERICA

Lincoln's Birthplace

Behind a split rail fence near Hodgenville, Kentucky, is the Lincoln Memorial of granite and marble, erected on the farm site where Abraham Lincoln was born. The one room log house is enclosed within the memorial.

Lincoln saw the evils of a country "half slave-half free." We are fighting now to keep Nazi slavery away from our free shores as much as to liberate the conquered peoples of Europe and Asia.

Geo. R. Perrine In Campaign For Re-election

George R. Perrine, of Aurora, Republican Candidate for re-election to the office of State Central Committeeman for the 11th Congressional District, has conducted an aggressive campaign for re-election throughout the entire District.

Four years ago Perrine was first elected to the State Committee and was re-elected two years ago. He has represented this District actively and earnestly. During his entire time on the Committee he has been the chairman of the sub-committee on finance. During his first term of office he was elected to the office of Treasurer of the State Central Committee and has served the Committee in that capacity ever since. Ben L. Berve, Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee says:

"George Perrine is one of the most valuable men on our entire committee. When you give him a job to do you can count on it being done well. We on the committee hope that the electorate of his district returns him to the committee this year. His valuable advice and counsel is much needed in the coming campaign. Never have the finances of the committee been so well managed as they were under his direction."

Mr. Perrine states: "I am seeking re-election on my past record. I have worked hard in interest of the Republican Party and have sought to achieve party harmony. I have done every job assigned to me. My campaign pledge to the Republicans of the Eleventh Congressional District is simply this: When re-elected to the Committee I will continue to work for the interest of the Republican Party and, above for a Republican Victory in 1944. I have charge of this all important campaign in Illinois and as a member of that committee I pledge my time and aid to the end that victory be won."

HERE is a reminder to poultry flock owners that the time is approaching when they should place orders for baby chicks they desire to brood this year, plus a few helpful hints about their care after delivery.

In view of the feed supply problem, the logical place for a poultry producer to secure good quality chicks is from a hatchery selling them. A high production potential is needed for flock replacement, as a pullet laying 100 eggs requires 10 pounds of feed to produce a dozen eggs. In contrast, a pullet producing 200 per year requires only five pounds of feed for each dozen. Moreover, this is one way to conserve our short supplies of feed.

Some of the points usually desirable in good quality baby chicks include: characteristics true to the breed represented; weight eight pounds, or more, per 100 chicks 24 hours old; long down; plenty of pigment in down, shanks, and beak; lots of pep; well healed navel; freedom from disease inherited from parent stock or transferred to the chicks in the incubator, and parent stock that has been bred for high egg production.

Many hatcheries are producing chicks that will answer to these requirements, but not all. It will pay any flock owner to investigate the hatchery and the kind of chicks the firm is producing before making a purchase. Just any kind of chick won't do, and the cheapest chicks are usually far more costly in the long run.

Until next time, lots of good luck, everybody.

MILLIONS OF TREES
DISTRIBUTED FOR 1944

More than three and one-half million trees have been distributed by the Illinois State Division of forestry for the 1944 planting season. This is about equal to the amount sent out last year.

Only limited quantities of Norway spruce and Douglas fir trees were available and were all sold by the first of the year. Osage orange, loblolly pine, pitch pine, tulip poplar, Virginia pine and ash were sold out before the season closed and there was a larger demand for walnut trees than could be filled. Demand for red pine and white pine was less brisk.

Many of the orders came from farmers, and from 4-H club and vocational agriculture projects. Strip mine operators were the largest purchasers, using the trees for planting on areas which had been worked over in the process of mining.

NORTHERN ILLINOIS

THE LAND OF OPPORTUNITY

How this rich farm land fits into the picture of tomorrow

Located in the heart of the most productive agricultural section in America, this area of Northern Illinois is noted for its farming diversification.

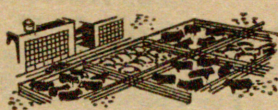

Here are thousands of rich dairy farms that supply the great Chicago milk shed. Here are poultry farms that have grown in size and number to help meet America's wartime needs. Here, too, are farmlands where hogs, cattle and sheep thrive...where grain and produce grow in abundance.

In addition to the advantages nature bestowed, this agricultural region has many favorable economic factors. It is the largest packing center and the greatest grain and livestock market in the world. It is the hub of the nation's transportation and a financial capital. Here are electric power plants of vast capacity for extending the benefits of electricity to the farmer and for processing agricultural products.

Yes, Chicago and Northern Illinois is a rich agricultural center, today. And it is tomorrow's Land of Opportunity—not only for the farmer, but for the worker and the industrialist as well.

As Miss Semmler came to the home with the intention of choir practice, she was greeted with a surprise song, to the tune of "How Do You Do!" which instructed her to go to the cellar door and there she found a clothes line which lead her through the home with gifts, at intervals tied to the line. The finish of the line lead to a room wherein was concealed a lovely occasional chair, a gift from the group. Refreshments were served buffet style from the dining table decorated with colored Easter Eggs nestled in celophane straw.

Another lovely shower was given Miss Semmler Tuesday evening in the home of Miss Jean Shevlin by the Girl Scouts. This was also a surprise. ## V-EIGHTERS ARE CHAMPS

Cooper and Hostert's V-Eighters took the league title by two games, Monday night after dropping the first two games to the Bankers.

The V-Eighters were jittery in the first two games until they were assured of first place when the Oilers and Robins split the first two games and the Paperhangers lost their first game, then the V-Eighters regained their composure and rolled to a rousing high game of 854 which was twenty-six pins short of their second high of last week.

The Oilers won two games from the Robins to take possession of second place and dropping the Robins to third. This was a close contested series with each team winning one, the third game became the deciding factor for second place.

The Paperhangers dropped to 4th place as they lost two games to the Smokers.

This was the closest race in the history of the Mokena Bowling League with the first five teams rolling within three games of 1st place most of the season and each team holding the lead part of the time.

The largest crowd of the season attended to witness the outcome of this season's race and they were pulling for their favorite teams to win.

Next week we have the leagues annual sweepstakes and then the party at Smokers' Tavern.

On Friday evening, March 31, the students of Mokena high school presented to a large audience a mystery comedy entitled "Lights Out". It was greatly enjoyed and the efforts and work of the students was appreciated by all.

Each member of the cast took his part very well and deserves a great deal of credit for his splendid work.

Pupils taking part were: Patty Bennett, Carol Reihn, Norman Olson, Donna Bueschel, Marion Sizer, Irvin Holm, Lois Hutson, Wm. McGregor, Andrew Bueschel, Doris Spiess, and Frank Sizer.

During intermissions members of the Junior High School entertained as follows: "Waltzing Matilda", Song; piano duet, Carol Benson and Joanne Marti; Song, "Witches' Ball"; trio: "I Couldn't Sleep A Wink Last Night." Doris Yunker, Cornet, Joanne Marti, piano and Jack Marti, saxophone;

The program was presented under the direction of Mrs. Marie Knater, teacher in the high school.

Mrs. Carl Walters and Mrs. Jessie Sippel are taking appointments from volunteers in the Mokena district who wish to donate blood to the armed forces thru the Red Cross. To make an appointment, call Mokena 2754 or 3681. Anyone from 18 to 59 years inclusive may donate blood. From 18-21 years, the prospective donor must have the written consent of their parents or guardian.

With the invasion of Europe so near, no one can estimate the great quantity of blood plasma that will be needed by the medical corps. It would be good for us all to feel as one of the inmates at Stateville so aptly expressed in the following poem, written just a few days ago when the Mobile Unit spent 5 days there and collected 945 pints of blood:

"Count Us In"

The couple of drops of blood we give
May give some soldier a chance to live
Just tap my veins you Red Cross gals

11th Congressional District Straw Vote Planned

Announcement was made at a recent public meeting in Will county by Chas. M. Burgess and Win G. Knoch, candidates for delegates to the Republican National Convention, and David R. Joslyn and Milton T. Sonntag, candidates for alternate delegates, that during the month of May, if these men are elected, they will conduct throughout the Eleventh Congressional District a straw vote of public opinion in an effort to ascertain from all voters of the Eleventh District their preference as to a possible Republican presidential and vice presidential candidate. Mr. Burgess stated that his office would undertake through the precinct committeemen the Republican workers, and the newspapers, to conduct this poll with the intention that the results would be a guide to the delegates and alternates of the Eleventh District as to what presidential and vice presidential candidate should be seriously considered at the time of the Republican convention in Chicago on June 26th.

He further stated that it was his opinion that this would be the first time in the State of Illinois when elected delegates to a national nominating convention actually surveyed the voters of their district in an effort to ascertain the voters preference. "We will endeavor to secure at least 40,000 straw votes in the Eleventh District out of a potential 70 to 75,000 names of Republican voters," said Mr. Burgess. An opportunity will also be given on these same ballots to indicate some outstanding suggestions as to their ideas of planks for the Republican platform.

Judge Win G. Knoch in commenting on the reception which the delegates and alternates have had in their intensive campaign in Kane, DuPage, Will and McHenry Counties stated, "We find the people are more concerned about what the Republican party intends to do in straightening out the internal confusion in the country than they are about who may be selected as a presidential candidate. However, most of those who have commented state that the Republican Party should have a strong and very direct platform and a candidate who can be relied upon to support such a platform and particularly a candidate who will, at all times, have the interest of America foremost in his mind. The opposition to Wendell Willkie can be said to be unanimous throughout the Eleventh District. His selection as the Republican candidate would make for disunity throughout the party which is exactly what the Democrats would like to bring about."

Stick-to-Your-Ribs Dish Is Appetizing

Frankfurter farina dumplings with sauerkraut, pictured above, is a good down-to-earth, stick-to-your-ribs main dish, says the Country Cooking editor of Capper's Farmer, a publication of national circulation.

This dish has lots of what it takes, including vitamins in the fortified margarine and enriched farina. When buying cereals, margarine and other foods which are available with vitamins added, be sure to check that those you get are the enriched ones, advises the Capper's Farmer expert.

Dumplings with Sauerkraut
1½ cups self-rising cake flour
¾ cup enriched farina
2 tablespoons fortified margarine
¾ cup milk
3 frankfurters
1 qt. sauerkraut
1 cup water
1 large onion
6 to 8 cloves

Sift and measure flour. Stir in farina. Cut in margarine and add milk. Mix lightly with a fork. Slice frankfurters in ½-inch slices. Add to dumplings, saving a few pieces to garnish top. Place sauerkraut in a large skillet with cover to fit. Add water and onion in which cloves have been stuck. Bring to a boil. Drop dumplings by spoonfuls on sauerkraut. Garnish with pieces of frankfurter. Cover closely. Steam without removing cover 20 to 25 minutes. Serves 6 to 8.

Reclaim That Brush

Good paint brushes being scarce these days, it behooves the housewife to clean up old ones and give them better care, declares the Home Editor of Capper's Farmer, Topeka, Kan., whose advice on household matters is read by 1,250,000 farm families. Fortunately commercial preparations are available. The powder forms are perhaps easiest to use, since they are mixed with hot water in needed quantities.

Slick Chicks Find Key to Smoothness

THE time for coaching on this business of etiquette is beforehand, like right now, according to Holly Miller, whose column "Some Coaching Please" in Capper's Farmer is a popular feature among teen age boys and girls and their parents as well.

"Observe any slick chick or Beau Brummel and you'll notice the smoothness isn't done with mirrors," she writes. "It's a safe bet they've been beating the etiquette books."

Take that oft-puzzling question of "Who Goes First" when youngsters step out for a snack.

"When entering a restaurant, the girl follows the waiter to the table and is seated by him," advises this Capper's Farmer authority. "If all the waiters are hiding—that gives Joe a chance to lead the procession and to seat the damsel."

"Of course a smooth pigeon never tears into a room a good 20 feet in front of her striving-hard-to-keep-up escort. He pulls the chair and she sits down from the left on the front half. Then she ups-a-daisies slightly and good old Joe slides the chair under her."

WHATEVER happens to baseball through 1944, you can write it down in advance as the game's greatest all around gamble since Abner Doubleday had his fantastic dream.

This goes not only for the two major league pennant races, but also for the individual averages, including pitchers and hitters.

With the draft now working busily and effectively day by day, building up the reserves that will be needed later on, no one can possibly tell what will happen from week to week or from month to month.

Grantland Rice

Army and navy experts tell us the European war will certainly move into 1945, with the Japanese climax set no later than 1946. If this happens to be true, and it seems to be the best guess in sight, the drain on manpower will be well beyond anything we have known so far.

It may seem to be a rather futile matter and a minor argument to bring in baseball at such a vital point in this nation's history, but the fact remains that millions are still following what is left of baseball, including a large percent of the 11,000,000 Americans now in army or navy service. Only pay a visit to any camp or talk with the returning wounded.

In addition to the two pennant races they also want to know who will be the leading pitchers and the leading hitters among those left in the various training camps.

"Don't you think," a wounded sergeant asked me, "that Mort Cooper should win at least 30 games with the weaker hitters he will have to face?"

"What about those Yankee pitchers?" another asked. "Bonham and Borowy and Donald should mop up."

"Some of these left-over hitters should reach .400," another said. "This ought to be a big year for any 4-F regular."

Rather Tough Queries

Once again there are two sides to all these pre-season arguments.

There are some good pitchers left—such as Mort Cooper and Whit Wyatt, Rip Sewell and Ernie Bonham, entries from the Cubs and Reds, etc.

They won't have so many good hitters to mow down. But on the other side they won't have the hitting and the fielding support they have had in the past.

The Yankees were poison for a pitcher. But they have lost, or will soon lose such men as Charlie Keller, Joe Gordon, Bill Dickey, young Johnson, most of their dynamite.

If Spud Chandler is available he should lead his league again. He should—but what about the holes in his support? Plus a few of those timely Dickey-Keller-Gordon-Johnson hits that will be missing all or most of this season. Not overlooking their defensive strength?

The same angle will apply to Mort Cooper, Whit Wyatt, Rip Sewell and other leading stars from other seasons.

Anything Can Happen

As we have observed and remarked and guessed several times before, this is the season where anything can happen.

It is no secret to remark that class has taken a heavy fall. This is the way it should be in the vital spot of the world's greatest war.

It is the uncertainty of these two races, the uncertainty of any winning sides, the uncertainty of any leading stars, that give the two big league races their chance to catch public interest.

Racing alone has shown that this is the greatest gambling age of all time.

To all the service men who write us, and to all who ask direct questions concerning what might happen, we can only ask a respite of a few weeks until the training season is further along and there is a better chance to find out just what men each league and each team has.

This can never be any final judgment with so many men to be called from week to week—or from month to month.

But there is at least the early spring promise of a dizzy scramble, which might carry out more general interest than two one-sided races, such as we have had in the last few years.

Some Favorite Old Timers

Most of baseball's top stars are in war service. But there will still be a few old timers left who are worth looking over. In this list you'll find such veterans as Pepper Martin, Mel Ott and Jimmy Foxx.

Martin and Foxx have come out of retirement. They are not what they used to be, I'd still like to see them play again. The Pepper remains one of baseball's colorful personalities, on or off the field. And that's saying a mouthful.

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

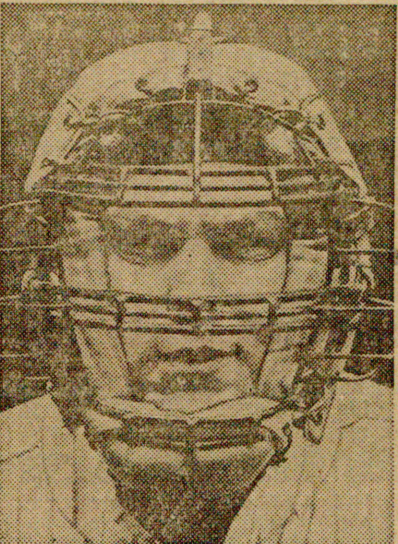

WITH the induction of Catcher William Malcolm Dickey into the navy, the New York Yankees lost the last man of an era that made the champions the most famous club in baseball.

Bill Dickey played with Babe Ruth. Lou Gehrig was his roommate, and in more recent years there were Tommy Henrich, Joe DiMaggio, George Selkirk, Johnny Sturm, Buddy Hassett, Red Ruffing, Ken Sears, Phil Rizzuto, Bill Johnson, Charlie Keller and others who made the Yankees the champions of the world.

When Manager Joe McCarthy received word of Dickey's status he said:

"I guess it's only the beginning. Uncle Sam wants him and that's all there is to it. I wish Bill the best of luck. We'll all miss him. He was a great catcher, great hitter, and a great man to have on a ball club. The records prove Dickey was the greatest catcher of all time."

Exactly how much the loss of Dickey will affect the Yankees remains to be seen, but most observers believe that it will rank with the biggest, comparable to the loss of DiMaggio, Keller or any of the others who are in service.

Dickey's Rating

Unquestionably Dickey deserves ranking with the best catchers of all time. He shared in nine World Series cuts and appeared behind the bat in every contest of the Yankees' last eight series. Only Ruth appeared in more World Series, and Dickey's feat of playing on seven winning clubs tied a mark held by Ruth and Gehrig.

The only uniform that Dickey ever wore in the big show was a Yankee uniform—and he wore that for 16 seasons. The veteran, who will be 37 years old in June, received the plaque as player of the year at the recent Baseball Writers' dinner in New York. He holds the major league record of catching 100 games or more for 13 consecutive seasons and batted over the .300 mark in 11 seasons. His lifetime average is .313.

Apparently the Yankee front office had seen the handwriting on the wall. Joe Glenn, a veteran, was purchased from Kansas City just a few days before Dickey was inducted. The club also has the services of Bob Collins and Mike Garbark, rookies with little or no big league experience, and maybe Rollie Hemle, a good catcher but a man who says he would sooner be farming than playing baseball.

All-Important

When the news was given to McCarthy he wanted to say he was sorry to see Dickey go. But he checked his words for fear they might be misunderstood.

As the manager of a baseball club it is inconceivable that McCarthy should be glad to see Dickey go. A catcher is all-important. A winning ball club must be strong through the middle, from the catcher's box through center field.

The trend of the times was evidenced by the fact that, when news of Dickey's induction came, the only catcher in the Yankee spring camp was Claude Larned, a councilman from Pleasantville, N. Y., where he has a gas station. Larned is not even trying out for the team. He was around only because he likes baseball and happens to be a friend of Paul Krichell, the Yankee's No. 1 sc. it.

The mighty have not fallen, but their troubles are as numerous as those besetting the seven other clubs of the league. And that alone is most unusual.

SPORTS SHORTS

Elmer Riddle is the 15th pitcher in Cincinnati's modern baseball history to win 20 or more games in one season.

Major league clubs will play 168 spring exhibition games before launching the championship season of 1944.

Before the Detroit Lions gave him a contract, Frank Sinkwich signed a release absolving the club from responsibility in the event of permanent injury due to his heart condition.

'SMALL PEOPLE' AND 'BIG CORPORATIONS'

WE ARE INCLINED to applaud when congress places extra taxation on the corporations rather than increase the tax on individuals. We think it perfectly all right for the government to take all the profits of industry and transportation, leaving nothing for reconversion to peacetime production or for replacements of rails or rolling stock worn out under the terrific pressure of war.

We do not stop to consider just who owns these industrial and transportation corporations. We do not think of such taxes directly affecting ourselves.

The fact is the industrial concerns and transportation systems of America, directly and indirectly, are owned by the mass of the American people, not by a limited number of wealthy individuals. There are more than 30 million people who own stocks or bonds of industrial or transportation corporations. The tax the government collects comes directly out of the pockets of that 30 million people and gravely jeopardizes their investments.

That 30 million people represent the workers, the farmers, the doctors and school teachers, people in every walk of life. Through thrift and frugality they have saved that they might accumulate. They have invested their savings in the plants and tools of industry and transportation. Their investments have created jobs, have made possible the maintenance of the American standard of living. One transportation line, the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, numbers among its stockholders 40,496 people, no one of whom owns more than 50 shares. It is such people who are paying the tax on the corporation profits. It is their holdings that will be valueless when there is nothing left to reconvert or rebuild after the war.

Indirectly all of us who have insurance policies or savings accounts in the banks are paying. Through the insurance companies and the banks our money is invested in these industrial and transportation companies. The dividends earned on our policies or the interest paid on our savings is determined by the earnings of the corporations our money is financing.

Should the government break the corporations, as seems to be the intent, it is 30 million of people, a cross section of all America, an average of one for each family, who will suffer. We have a very definite and decided interest in the concerns for which we have provided the plants and tools.

THERE'S AN UNSEEN MORTGAGE ON YOUR HOME

THE NATIONAL WEALTH of America is the collateral back of the bonds representing the national debt. A considerable portion of that national wealth is the homes in which we live. There is an unseen mortgage on each and every home in the land and regardless of who owns them, the people living in those homes must pay those mortgages. Because there are but two of us, there is charged up against our home something over $4,200 as the share of the national mortgage we must pay. Across the street is a modest cottage occupied by a family of five. The share of those five people, father, mother and three children, is over $7,000. Regardless of who owns that cottage, that family must pay. The payment comes in the form of taxes, either direct or indirect or both. In interest alone, that family of five must pay as much as $130 each year. That is what the national debt means to us as individuals. It demonstrates our interest in economy in government. We must pay for the waste, whatever it may be.

RUSSIA HAS HER OWN TERMS FOR NAZIS

WHEN GERMANY HAS BEEN LICKED, as she will be before long, Joseph Stalin will demand that German labor rebuild the Russia German armies have destroyed. William Green, president of AFL, says American labor will not permit the exploitation of German labor. Mr. Green has another guess coming. He will find American labor leaders will not be consulted as to what Russian policies shall be, or what Russia shall do. Stalin will boss the Russian show and German labor will do what he decides it is to do including hours and other conditions. Stalin is not accepting dictation from American labor leaders regardless of what they may be able to do in America. They will have nothing to say about Russia's terms to Germany.

THE AMERICAN TAXPAYER applauds the army for that 27 billion it cut from estimated costs and returned to the treasury. Now if the civilian departments would cut but a billion or two it would seem like Democracy could be practical.

THE SUN SHINES on some of us somewhere every day. It may be our turn tomorrow.

IT IS WELL TO REMEMBER that no one of us possesses all of the virtues.

With Writing Mastered, Jake Might Study Reading

Old Uncle Jake had been very much occupied all by himself over in a corner near the fireplace. Armed with a stub of a pencil and a piece of paper, he was industriously scribbling in short, jerky motions. Suddenly he looked up, beaming happily.

"Doggone it, Maw," he exclaimed excitedly, "if I ain't learned to write. Really wrote!" Maw got up, ambled over and critically looked at the scrawled lines across the paper.

"What do it say, Paw?" she asked, shaking her head.

"Well, I don't know yet," replied Uncle Jake, puzzled, "I ain't learned to read."

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Seriousness of the truck tire shortage will be appreciated when it is known that 34 of the country's largest cities receive all their milk by motor trucks.

Underinflation is a voracious waster of tire rubber. A check on Michigan war workers' cars recently showed that more than 15 per cent were underinflated.

Rubber and processing represent about 40 per cent of the cost of manufacturing a popular size automobile tire.

The first rubber-tired motor bus was operated in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1900. It was used for sightseeing purposes.
